Appl. No. 09/890,179
Amdt. dated May 11, 2005
Reply to Office Action of February 7, 2005

PATENT

ABSTRACT

A secure processor can operate with a host processor to perform a unitary decrypt/authentication operation. The host processor can receive encrypted messages that include authentication messages that include authentication information. The host processor can submit each message to the secure processor so that the secure processor can decrypt and authenticate. It the authentication operation is not successful, the secure processor does not return the fully decrypted message back to the host.